

THE PERFECT PLAYOFF PLAN 16

STRENGTH OF SCHEDULE PROBLEM

The College Football Playoff (former BCS) instituted a 13 member committee in 2012 that will use secretive and subjectively based nebulous factors such as a Strength Of Schedule (SOS) calculation to make their ranking of the top 25 NCAA FBS teams and then select their year end 4 team Playoff.

The Perfect Playoff Plan relies instead on the S.A.F.E. Philosophy to insure that the best 16 teams are selected for the National Championship Playoff Series based solely on wins applying the principles of FAIR treatment of every School while placing them in EQUAL Conferences using the principle of Equal status, size and total strength of programs. This eliminates the Strength of Schedule as a factor in calculating the best teams instead using only wins as the basis for selecting the 10 Conference Champions and the 6 second place teams for the 16 team National Championship Playoff.

Currently the NCAA allows teams from the FBS to count Patsy Games with teams from the FCS toward the required 6 wins for Bowl Eligibility and Playoff invitations. Likewise the NCAA has set up the so called Group of Five Conference teams (former Mid-Majors) as Cupcakes to continue to balloon the Power 5 Conference team's winning record. Instead the Perfect Playoff Plan 16 eliminates both the Patsy and the Cupcake designation while putting the 90 FBS teams with the most wins on an Equal footing in the Regular Season quest to win a spot in the 16 team National Championship Playoff.

Every team will play the same number of games against only Major College Football Division teams and play every one of their 8 fellow Conference members thus ending the question which team should go to the Playoff for each Conference. While equally sharing the Best, Next and Last teams from the 90 schools in the new Major College Football Division among its 10 Conferences to end the need for a Strength of Schedule ranking. Then the 16 teams winning their place in the National Championship Playoff will have to win 4 games against the Best Teams thus ensuring that there will be an Undisputed National Champion decided on the field of play.

Check out the Perfect Playoff Plan designed to make a Major College Football Division that guarantees Fair treatment and Equal status for every team and every Conference.

Back to Home